On the occasion of the Venice Biennale, the V-A-C Zattere hosts the awaited exhibition Time, Forward!

Time, Forward! is the final chapter of a long reflection on the concept of time and its bond to the XXI century. The title has an ironic cross-reference to the Soviet slogan of the XX century, becoming after a novel, a movie and a song. You can find the irony in the opposite interpretation of the slogan: the exhibit drops the optimistic and progressive vision of the acceleration in favour of a critical view on the compression of the present and time, caused by the new dynamics of the digital era.

The exhibit gathers the works of 13 international artists, that think about this new conception of time, which is getting more and more decreased. They're asking themselves if there's any possibility to resist to the limits of this new era.

Until the 20th of October it is possible to visit this exhibition and to get to know about the deep complexities of our times.
